DOTS

diversity training

In the diversity training program, DOTS employees learn about the benefits of working with others who are different and gain insight into how they can use their unique skills and backgrounds in the workplace. Topics covered include individual awareness, diversity models, and increased understanding of others.

The program is broken up into two levels. In Diversity I, new employees learn the fundamentals, exploring their personal perspectives and how they play a role at DOTS. After two years, employees participate in Diversity II where they discuss in detail how different backgrounds can be matched with various functions within our organization. Upon successfully completing the second level training, employees take Diversity II every two years.
